Allowable Subject Matter

1. Claims 1-20 are allowed.
2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

As per Claims 1, 9, and 15.

The present invention is directed to transferring funds between a payor and a payee in an online transaction. Each independent claim identifies the uniquely distinct features "receiving information from the payor at a funds transfer server via a network for debiting a bank account associated with the payor, wherein said information comprises payor personal information including information regarding said bank account associated with the payor and information recording online transaction data including a total amount for the online transaction; transmitting to the payee said funds transfer server via a network authorization to request debits from the payor, wherein a total of all debit requests does not exceed an said total amount for the online transaction; receiving a first request at said funds transfer server from the payee to debit the payor a first portion of the amount; initiating a first debit via said funds transfer server from the bank account for the first portion of the amount, payor a second portion of the amount; and receiving a second request at said funds transfer server from the payee to debit the initiating a second debit via said funds transfer server from the bank account for the second portion of the amount; wherein said payee does not have access to said payor personal information via said funds transfer server". The closest prior art, Corporate EFT Report, Record, Manesse, McCoy et al., Ganesan et al., Kight et al., Ginzboorg et al., Deep, Rosen and Tateisi et al., disclose funds transfer systems that, either singularly or in combination, fail to anticipate or render the above underlined limitations obvious.

The claims which depend from the above allowed claims are allowed based on their dependencies.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
